

Greg Rose, MS, ATC

Greg graduated from Ohio University with his BS in 1985 and Radford University with his MS in 1986. He began his career at the Roanoke Orthopaedic Clinic in 1988. He then moved William Fleming High School in 1989. In 1992, he became the athletic trainer at Lafayette High School as part of KY Sports Medicine. In 1996 he took a job as manager at the McDowell Wellness Center in Danville, KY. In 2002 he worked as an athletic trainer in a physician's clinic at Jessamine Christian Healthcare. He then took a job with Lexington clinic assigned to Toyota. He became the clinic manager for UK Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine in 2005. Now Greg is the operations manager for American Medical Response.

Greg served as President of KATS 2003 - 2010 and was an integral part of getting our practice act revised in 2006. He has been a key part of the KATS Legislative Committee 2010-present. He has served on the BOC Athletic Training Regulatory Committee from 2002 to present. For his contributions to athletic training in Kentucky, he was awarded the KATS award of Merit in 2009 and 2013.